

Zero-Waste and Covid-19

Steps for zero-waste shopping during the pandemic

Stick to your values

- With everything going on, we need to reduce our plastics and single use production more than ever
- No need to replace washable bags, containers, etc. with single-use
- Right now, there is a shortage of new containers, so we need to upcycle, upcycle, upcycle
- There is a huge surplus of existing containers (glass and plastic), so we need to reuse what we have in the system now
- Most folks have an abundance of ready-to-use containers in their pantries and recycling bins ready to clean and go.

- With normal sanitizing procedures, there is no evidence of the virus staying on bags or dry containers
- As always, washing hands is the best way to be safe
- Also, shopping in bulk can reduce how often one has to shop
- We are also offering curbside options for zero-waste shopping
- We have local in-season produce from farmers
- Partnering with Ollin Farms, Buckner Ranch, Mini-Moos, Hyland Honey

SIMPLY BULK

ORZO!
YOU'VE NEVER SEEN
& MICRO GREENS

ORZO!

LESSON
Photo Lesson
THE BULK

Stacks of brochures and cards on a wooden counter.

A white wire rack displaying numerous small cards or brochures.

A collection of items including a blue and red baseball cap, a green bag, and other miscellaneous goods.

SIMPLY BULK MARKET

FRONTIER
Organic and Natural Spices & Herbs
Go Green Buy Bulk
Organic and Natural Spices & Herbs

